EXPERIENCE:

The University of Virginia

March 2011-Present

Professor of Public Policy at the Frank Batten School of Leadership and Public Policy.

Project Director for the State Health Care Cost Containment Commission at the Miller Center for Public Affairs 2013-2014.

This commission was co-chaired by former governor and Secretary of HHS Mike Leavitt and former governor Bill Ritter and included 10 other members, most of whom are CEO's of major firms in the Health Care Industry. The report entitled "Cracking the Code on Health Care Cost "makes recommendations to governors and states on how they can reduce the rate of increase in health care spending and was released the January.8, 2014.

Project Director for the National Commission on Financing 21st Century Higher Education at the Miller Center for Public Affairs 2013-2016.

This commission was co-chaired by former governor/senator of Florida Bob Graham and former governor/congressmen of Delaware Mike Castle and included two state legislators, five university presidents and five private sector CEOs. The purpose was to develop a set of pragmatic policy options that states could use to incentivize universities and colleges to become more cost-effective and increase access and graduation rates all students but particularly for low income and students of color. The Commission released ten policy white papers during 2016 and the final report entitled Investing in the Future: Sharing Responsibility for higher Education Attainment was released in December, 2016.

Currently I am teaching two courses each year including State and Federal Budgeting and the Applied Policy Project or the capstone for the MPP students. Also, I have taught Health Care, Leadership in the Public Arena several short courses on crisis management, budgeting and governors as leaders.

During the last several years I have organized and hosted retreats for both Governor McAuliffe and Governor McDonnell at the Batten School. Both of the full day retreats focused on finishing strong in the final year. I also hosted the final governors debate working with staff at the University of Virginia at Wise in November, 2018. Currently, I am discussing the possibility of the Batten School doing an issue and leadership seminar for new members of the Virginia House of Delegates after the next election with the bipartisan leadership in the House of Delegates.

National Governors Association
1983 - 2011
Executive Director

As chief executive, I was responsible for managing all facets of this 100-staff member association of the 55 Governors of the states, territories, and commonwealths of the United States. The association, which had a $33.4 million budget, had three missions. First, to assist Governors and their staff in developing and implementing a wide range of state policies in education, economic development, housing, job training, health and social services, transportation and environmental protection. Second, to influence federal legislation and regulations on behalf of state governments. This requires testifying and lobbying both the Congress and the administration on key issues. Third, to assist Governors in becoming stronger managers and leaders.

Congressional Budget Office
U.S. Congress, 1980 - 1982
Deputy Director

Responsibilities included the internal management of this office of 220 policy analysts, congressional testimony on all major energy, transportation, housing, budget, tax, and other economic issues of interest to the Congress. Also, had the responsibility to review all economic reports released by the office and to direct and coordinate major analyses that required tasks from several divisions.

Congressional Budget Office
U.S. Congress, 1977 - 1980
Assistant Director for Natural Resources and Commerce

Supervised a staff of twenty Ph.D. level economists in providing policy analysis to various congressional committees. Analysis was concentrated in the energy, housing, transportation, agriculture, environmental and science and technology areas. This position also required testifying before congressional committees.

Congressional Budget Office
U.S. Congress, 1975 - 1977
Chief of the Energy and Transportation Cost Analysis Section

Supervised fifteen analysts in the costing of new legislation, budget estimation and budget projections.

Jack Faucett Association, Inc.
Chevy Chase, Maryland, 1969 - 1975
Vice President and Senior Consultant for Economic Studies

Marketed and supervised approximately $800,000 per year in government, commercial, and economic research primarily in energy, transportation, the environment, and regional economic analyses.

The Standard Oil Company
Cleveland, Ohio, 1967 - 1969
Economist

Developed long-range and short-range economic projections, including a disaggregation of the national forecast by state region. Also, had the responsibility to develop sales forecasts of major petroleum products, which were used for both refinery runs and capital budgeting. Additional analysis was completed on defining new markets for both petroleum and petrochemical products as well as financial analysis on potential new ventures. These functions later became part of the Corporate Planning Division of Sohio and then British Petroleum.
